E. Carter.

BRANCH RAILWAYS.

The branch lines built in Southern and Northwestern Manitoba last year have already proved of great value to the settlers in the districts traversed by them, a value which is of far greater importance to the Province than the extent to which its credit was pledged to aid the enterprises. The result has clearly demonstrated the wisdom of the Government in carrying through the Railway Aid Act, without the assistance by which it would have been impossible for either the Manitoba Northwestern Colonization or the Manitoba and Northwestern companies to have built a mile of road, a fact which, however much it may be denied by the Opposition, is on record in the official correspondence addressed by the officers of those companies to the Government.

With the opening of spring comes a natural anxiety on the part of those still waiting railway communication within easy distance to know what will be done this year. The Manitoba is in a position to state that Mr. Van Horne fully appreciates the necessity of the situation and that there is a likelihood of both the Southwestern branches being somewhat extended westward from their present respective termini at Boissevain and Holland, and also of the Souris branch being commenced from Brandon and built for some forty miles in the direction of the Souris coal fields. Of course, this will depend somewhat upon the action of the Dominion Parliament on the resolution now before it respecting the repayment of the Government loan by the company, and also on the course of the money market and on the ability to borrow money on branch line bonds without unreasonable sacrifice. The company will have the earnest wish of every one who has the interest of the province at heart, that it may be successful in making its arrangements, and we hope to be in a position to make a definite announcement in respect to them at an early date.

Mr. F. H. Bridges, who has been in England in connection with the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway, has succeeded so well that his road hopes to be in a position to build fifty miles this year. The prospects for the early construction of the Northwest Central from Brandon by way of Rapid City are anything but favorable, the recent unpleasant occurrences in the railway committee meetings in Ottawa having doubtless had a tendency to injure them. Mr. Beatty has now his press of time to float his scheme, and unless he can show positive proof—promises not taken—that he can go on with work this season, there should be no hesitation or delay in placing the franchise in other hands.

The Hudson's Bay Railway scheme is not included in the term branch railways, but it is difficult to deal with any question of railway communication in this province without referring to it. Advice from Mr. Hugh Sutherland, who is now in England, one of the most hopeful character. His exertions are being watched with interest by the people of the whole Northwest, and he may rest assured he has their full sympathy and moral support, in spite of the nepotistic and selfish efforts which have been made by disappointed rivals to throw cold water on his efforts, even to the length of endeavoring to dissuade persons from acting on the directorate of the company.—Manitoba.

STRANGE STREAMS.

A number of rivers that can be found in almost any atlas possess remarkable characteristics which entitle them to rank among the natural curiosities of the world. In Algeria, for instance, there is a small stream which the chemistry of nature has turned into true ink. It is formed by the union of two rivulets, one of which is very strongly impregnated with iron, while the other, meandering through a peat marsh, imbues galleic acid. Letters have been written with this compound of iron and gallic acid which unite to form the little river.

In Columbia there is a river which, by admixture with sulphuric acid, becomes so sour that it is appropriately named Rio de Vinagre, or Vinegar River. Many varieties of fish abound in the large Orange River of South Africa until the river passes through a rocky region containing copper ores, below which the water is said to be poisonous and to kill the fish that venture into it.

A very curious river is the Webb's Shebeon, of East Africa, a deep and rapid stream, abundant in fish and crocodiles. Though it flows for hundreds of miles through fertile lands, the immense volume of water never reaches the sea. A little north of the Equator the river loses itself in a desert region a few miles from the Indian Ocean.

Very few great rivers have ever been thoroughly explored by going up stream. Travelers tried for two thousand years to find the sources of the Nile by ascending the river. By the time they had reached the difficult part of the stream their stores and energy were exhausted and they could go no farther. It was only by seeking the fountain heads first by overland routes that Schwatka was able to float down the Yukon, that Stanley mapped the Congo, and that Speke solved the secret of the Nile.

DIED OF HYDROPHOBIA.

After four days of horrible sufferings Dr. Brinton Warner, a young physician of Baltimore, died from hydrophobia. While walking on Christmas day, Dr. Warner picked up a little lap-dog that had been run over by a street car and was dying. Its death throes the dog bit him on his right hand. The animal was shot and the wound cauterized.

Being of a very nervous temperament, the doctor worried a great deal about the dog bite, and told several of his professional friends recently that he believed he would be a victim of rabies. They laughed at his fears. Last Thursday he was taken sick and the following day fell in a fit of nervous exhaustion in the hallway of his residence. He was carried to bed and then said to his wife:

"I have hydrophobia; keep away from me when I become violent."

He then kissed her and a few minutes later was seized with a terrible paroxysm. Prof. B. B. Arnold was summoned and Dr. R. H. Goldsmith and other physicians called in. They pronounced the case hydrophobia, the terrible symptoms of which became more and more apparent.

From Friday night until his death he acted just like the Newark dog pond keeper. He imagined there were mad dogs under his bed, barked and refused to take water. His horse for water, however, was only as a drinkable. The doctors took him in a closed carriage to a Russian bath establishment. The intense heat had a distressing effect upon him. He fought the physicians until he was taken to the open air, and for the first time had a paroxysm when the window was opened.

All night one convulsion followed another. The physicians say his sufferings were frightful to behold. He frothed at the mouth and ground his teeth until bits of them were broken off. He died in a spasm.

THE C. P. R. CAR.

The C. P. R. exhibition car has been visited by large crowds daily, and Mr. Bailey and his courteous and obliging subordinates have been kept busy describing the country and resources of the great Northwest. Friday afternoon the members of the city council, the heads of trade and education, the young ladies at the Wesleyan college, and a large number of city officials and others visited the car, it having been reserved for the time especially for them. The display of roots, cereals, fruits and all the other products of this great country is really magnificent, and the artistic manner in which they are arranged is worthy of special commendation. Specimens of coal, ore, game, sheep, etc., are also shown, and the whole is set off with a handsome array of plants and flowers. The roots and cereals speak volumes for the fertility of the soil, and in some respects lay over anything that Ontario can show in the same lines. Wild fowl abound in the country, and judging from the samples shown are of a particularly fine quality. The car was open Saturday afternoon and up to 9 o'clock in the night, when it was closed until its departure for Hagerston this morning. Photographic views of its interior have been taken by a local artist.—Hamilton Spectator.

George P. Klugh, a retired millionaire dry goods merchant, has levied from Lancaster, Pa., leaving his property mortgaged and $10,000 debts incurred.

HUDSON'S BAY RAILWAY.

Mr. David Chadwick, in ascending a notion of thanks to Mr. Alex. Begg for a paper recently read before the Society of Arts in London, Eng., on "Canada and its National Highway," incidentally said:—

When he was in Winnipeg last year, he was reminded of the fact that more than twenty years ago he had been called in as a professional accountant to report on certain matters between the old Hudson's Bay Company and the new one, Port Garry, the site of the present city of Winnipeg, was a station of the Hudson's Bay Company. He recollected that on that occasion reports were made that in the Winnipeg valley, and the Red River settlement, fertile land could be obtained. For two or three hundred years it must have been known that the land was fertile, but it was absolutely sealed up for want of roads. But there was another railway about to be constructed which would open up quite a new world. The Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay was a line 600 miles long, and would give direct communication with Liverpool. It had been proved by two explorations for the Dominion Government that Hudson's Bay and Hudson's Straits were open to ordinary shipping for 44 months in each year. This railway shortened the distance by upwards of 900 miles between Europe and the fertile plains, 200,000, 000 acres in extent, of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. This new territory would afford accommodation for every human being who required a comfortable home and was willing to labor. The Hudson's Bay Railway, and the Canadian Pacific Railway would shorten the distance from Europe to British Columbia, China, and Japan, and so form a highway either for commerce, for war, or for postal communication. Mr. Hugh Sutherland, the chairman of the Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay Railway, had arrived in London that very night from Canada, but he was too much fatigued with his journey to come to the meeting. Mr. Shefford, the engineer, was present, and he would be able to substantiate his statement. The completion of this railway would be a blessing to both England and Canada.

GENERAL NEWS.

Colorado has sixty-seven dividend-paying mines.

The Yukon mine in Nevada has been sold to New York parties for $150,000.

The establishment of a day church newspaper is advocated in London.

The seventy-six Apache prisoners of war passed through New Orleans en route for St. Augustin, Fla. They will be imprisoned at Fort Marion.

The Hanilton Spectator shows very clearly that the fisheries question is no matter of life or death with Canada. Last year we sold to the United States $3,500,000 worth of fish, and to other countries $1,493,000. In the same time our fishermen imported $4,000,000 of fish, and exported 20,000,000 pounds. That is to say, their imports exceeded their exports by 45,000,000 pounds. As our contemporary points out, if fish caught by Canadians are excluded from United States markets, United States fishermen will be unable to supply the home demand, and the whole of the foreign market now supplied from their catch will be open to Canadians. We are by no means wholly dependent upon our neighbors in this matter.

Mr. Henry R. Brand (Liberal) will move the rejection of the Irish Home Rule Bill when it comes up for second reading in the House of Commons.

The Right Honourable Sir Thomas Erskine May, Clerk of the House of Commons, has resigned his office because of ill-health.

The New Zealand coasting steamer Tamara has been wrecked between Wellington and Christchurch. A heavy gale prevailed at the time. Three boats were launched, but each was speedily capsized. Forty-two persons were drowned. Only two passengers were saved.

Sir William Macdougall, Chancellor of the Exchequer, introduced the budget in the House of Commons. He stated that the expenses of 1885-86 were £1,393,327 less and the receipts £1,208,693 less than the estimates made by Mr. Childers a year ago, making an actual deficit of £2,042,743, instead of £2,827,171, as estimated. The diminution in revenues was most marked in the case of alcohol, the receipts derived from which were £271,000 below the estimate, and £1,179,000 below the receipts derived from alcohol in 1884. Within a decade there have been decreases in revenue from alcohol of £4,350,000. This has been due to changes in the habits of the people and has been concurred with an enormous increase in revenue derived from comforts of life. The falling off in receipts from alcohol has been reduced about one-half by the increased receipts derived from tea, tobacco and fruits. There has been no substantial decrease in the revenue excepting in the case of alcohol. For the fiscal year of 1886-87 the expenditures are estimated at £90,428,592, and the revenue at £89,883,000. It is proposed to meet the deficit by taking £800,000 from the £6,750,000 applicable to the reduction of the national debt, which has been reduced £30,000,000 in the past five years. It is also proposed to abolish the license tax on private brewing in cottages, the annual rental of which is under £8, entailing a loss of £1,000 on revenue. Thus there will remain a surplus estimated at £231,751. No further changes are proposed in taxation, which the Government regrets its inability to reduce. The budget was adopted by the House.

Three carloads of way freight, chiefly merchandise, were left off here on Wednesday.

This promises to be a fruitful year; the weather could not have been better for seeding.

Heavy trains carrying large shipments of stock have been going west every day of late, and immigrant cars are attached to nearly every train with immigrants for various points along the line.

Large quantities of freight are arriving here every day for Prince Albert and points north, and although freighters are moving the goods at a lively rate, the C. P. R. shed is constantly kept filled.

We notice quite a number of new signs around town—even The Times having erected one lately. But we fancy Mr. Way of the post office has the neatest design out. It is a solid hardwood block with the words "Post Office" cut out, the carving being done by a local sculptor in a very neat manner. The painting and gilding was done by R. Thompson.

The settlers of Carrot River held a meeting and decided to form an agricultural society to be known as the Carrot River District Agricultural Society. The officers elected are:—President, Chas. Robertson; 1st Vice-President, W. F. Meyers; 2nd Vice-President, Thos. Sanderson; Secretary-Treasurer, Geo. Conner. They have a membership of thirty. The first general meeting will be held on the 1st of July, when they will decide as to the holding of their annual show, and attend to other important business.

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1886.

It is reported that Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Thos. White will visit Manitoba and British Columbia in June if the former's health permits. The chieftain will be sure to meet with a cordial reception should he make the trip, not merely by the members of the Conservative party but by all classes. It is to be hoped that his health will permit this indulgence.

A deputation has waited on the Minister of the Interior, requesting that a clause in the Dominion Land Act be amended by substituting eight per cent interest on loans of $600 to immigrants taking up homesteads, as the clause as it now stands is inoperative. The Minister promised his favorable consideration.

A bill has been introduced at Ottawa to amend the Dominion Election Act of 1874 as respects elections in Manitoba. The object is to have the elections in the province take place at the same time as those in the east. It is the spirit of the election act that polling should take place throughout the Dominion on the same day, and no circumstances now exist that should place Manitoba in an exceptional position.

The Dominion Government scheme for the representation of the Northwest Territories at Ottawa has been introduced by Sir John Macdonald. It provides for four members, Assiniboia to have two, and Alberta and Saskatchewan one each. This will make a total representation at Ottawa for Manitoba and the Northwest of nine members—not all we should have if the interests of this country are to be properly represented, but a very great improvement on the present state of things. The necessary legislation will be sought in England.

The Ottawa Journal says: It is evident that the Government intend to carry out the recommendation of Prof. Saunders to establish an experimental farm at Ottawa. The Hon. John Carling has given notice of the following motion: "That it is expedient to empower the Governor-in-Council to establish an experimental farm station, and to acquire a limited extent of land and set apart a limited extent of public lands of Canada for that purpose, and for the purpose of tree-planting and timber growing, and also to fix the rate of remuneration of persons employed to carry such provisions into effect, such remuneration to be paid out of the moneys voted by Parliament for that purpose, and further to provide that such samples, plants and other products as are designated by the Minister of Agriculture shall be admitted by mail free of charge, subject to regulations made by the Postmaster General.

The Land Department of the C. P. R. is striving earnestly to foster investigation to this country, and has set about the right way to do so. Unlike the advertising of many American Railways, the methods adopted in this case are so reliable that they compel belief. They are simply to let the settlers already in the country speak for themselves, giving their own experiences regarding the soil, climate, and their past life in the country, and then publishing the same in pamphlet form for free distribution. In every case the name and residence of the settler is given, and their statements can be verified if required. No selection was made in sending out the questions, for none was possible; and in the publication of the replies on the various points, every care has been taken to preserve the thoroughly representative character of the pamphlet by giving the replies just as they were received. They tell their own story in simple but forcible language.

The developing of the ranching industry in the Northwest has been so unostentatious that few outside of those actually engaged in it have any just idea of the extent to which it has attained. In the grazing region around Calgary the number of animals owned by the various firms there aggregate 70,000 cattle, 10,000 horses and 24,000 sheep, of the value of $3,734,000. The yearly increase among the cattle is computed at 25,000, and it is estimated that 25,000 or 30,000 will be brought in during the coming summer, so that the end of this year will probably raise the aggregate in that district to 125,000. Sheep-raising so far has given fairly satisfactory results, though some ranchmen complain that sheep graze so closely, as to destroy the roots of the prairie grasses and injure the runs. This annoyance can be avoided by the employment of competent and judicious shepherds who know when to move their flocks. The ranching industry, at its present rate of increase, will in a few years make Calgary the Falkirk of Canada.—Toronto World.

ORDINATION.

On Sunday last, the 2nd May, His Lordship the Bishop of Saskatchewan held an Ordination and Confirmation at St. James' Church on the Indian Reserve, South Branch. Mr. John Badger, for the last two years an Indian student of Emmanuel College, was ordained Deacon, and twenty candidates were confirmed. The Bishop handed over the sum of $58.25 for distribution among the Indians of the reserve who had suffered loss from having no crops owing to the late rebellion preventing them sowing last spring. The money was contributed by the Guelph Patriotic Relief Society of Ontario.

The Rev. J. Badger has been licensed as missionary to the Indians at Fort La Corne.

SUDDEN DEATH.

We regret to have to announce the death of Mr. Fitz Cochrane, of Calgary, and formerly of this place. The Calgary Tribune says: Friday afternoon Calgary citizens were astounded by the report that Mr. Fitz Cochrane, barrister, had died suddenly during the day. The circumstances attending the death are these: The deceased had been feeling ill, and about half-past three walked over to Dr. Henderson's office to seek medical attention. The doctor perceived at a glance that Mr. Cochrane was in a very serious state, and he decided to call in a brother doctor for consultation. He made a couch for his patient on the office lounge, and after administering some remedies to prevent immediate collapse, hurried out to call in Dr. Lindsay. He cannot have been absent more than twenty minutes, but when he returned with Dr. Lindsay he found Mr. Cochrane in the lounge quite dead. Death was caused by apoplexy or congestion of the brain. A post-mortem examination will be held. The deceased was one of the oldest legal practitioners in the Northwest. He came originally from Nova Scotia, being a son of the late Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Halifax. He came to Calgary in May 1884, previously having practiced his profession and edited the TIMES newspaper in Prince Albert, N. W. T. He was called to the bar of Nova Scotia in 1857. He married a daughter of Mr. George Frosier, manager of the British American Mercantile Agency, of Halifax, and two daughters survive him, his wife having died some years ago. Deceased was a man of much more than ordinary abilities, naturally good speaker and a forcible and fluent writer, qualities which, unfortunately, his restive life and uneven habits never permitted him to use as fully as they should have been. He was upwards of 50 years of age, and a genuine feeling of regret will be felt at the intelligence of his sudden taking off. The funeral will take place to-morrow at 11 o'clock, from Dr. Henderson's residence. Deceased will be buried with Masonic honors.

(April 24th.) The funeral of the late Mr. Fitz Cochrane was held Sunday and was conducted with Masonic honors, of which order the deceased was a member. At 11 o'clock the brethren assembled at the lodge-room and formed a procession to Dr. Henderson's residence where the body was. Here a short but impressive Masonic service was held when the procession returned and proceeded to the Church of the Redeemer, where the usual service was conducted by the Rev. J. Paske Smith. The procession then set out for the cemetery, and after the beautiful burial service of the Church of England had been conducted, the solemn Masonic service was led by the Master and the brethren each deposited the customary sprig of evergreen into the grave.
